The Stonewater Experience

After experiencing first-hand the struggles of adolescent substance use, the founders of Stonewater understood the need for a treatment program that would give adolescents and their families a place to get healthy and learn tools for long term success.

Whether the diagnosis is anxiety, depression, trauma, a substance use disorder or other mental health disorders, our clinical team does not limit our adolescents to a diagnosis. We build on the inherent strengths of each individual through identifying their gifts, reconnecting them with goals, addressing trauma and helping each young man find and pursue his purpose.
